

An artist's journey through the heart of Cambodia

Are you a budding artist looking for inspiration and guidance? Here's your opportunity to join accomplished artist Jaya Krishnan in Cambodia to be stirred by the picturesque landscapes and inspired by the staggering beauty of Angkor Wat.

Jaya travels to Cambodia each year to teach vulnerable Cambodian children the art of painting and to empower them with creative skills. Over the course of ten days you'll explore and paint some of the many temples at Angkor Wat, as well as the Kompong Kleang floating villages and the bustling market places of Siem Reap. You will also visit some of the best local galleries that are found in Battambang, the re-emerging artistic hub of Cambodia.

The experience is enriched when you visit Opportunities for Development Thru Art to pass on some of your knowledge to marginalized Cambodian children.
